Traditional with a Twist—Trends for a New Economy

This economy is truly an opportunity for smart business people who pay attention. Those left standing will have a larger market share. A challenging economy means a return to classics and tradition, simplicity and common sense, but with a modern or creative twist. Inventive and whimsical treatments are applied to old favorites. We laugh at our innocent past, but still long to rework it into reincarnations of the old, secure and familiar. Identifying your target customer and your niche market is more important than ever. Aggressive retailers will capture the business left by others who downsize. Luana will explore the old and apply a new creative twist in today's economy in all phases of the industry, from fashion to crafts to quilting.

Luana Rubin is co-owner and president of eQuilter.com in Boulder, Colorado. She is a member of the Color Marketing Group, an influential association for color design professionals whose mission is to create color forecast information. She is on their Color Visions committee, which does the most forward-looking color trend predictions. Luana also writes a weekly newsletter with fashion trends and new product reviews that is e-mailed to over 100,000 subscribers. Luana has worked as a garment and textile designer for over 25 years and is currently a licensed designer for Robert Kaufman.
